Chinese Officials Rejoiced at His Selection.

Many Families Leaving Tien Tsin
Fearing Japanese Invasion.

LONDON, Jan. 5. A despatch to the Central News from Pekin says the high officials of the government recently sent John W. Foster as a mediator between China and Japan as the best possible selection and are rejoiced at the news of his selection.

An edict has been issued upon the order of Li Hung Chang, commanding the diplomat, secret and punishment of Generals Huung, Cane and Wei Jo Chang.

A despatch from Tien Tsin says the families of the native officials are leaving the city for safety. Japanese invasion is imminent. Spokesman of the British Legation, John W. Foster, has been appointed as a mediator between China and Japan as the best possible selection and are rejoiced at the news of his selection.

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle Brothers, and communications intended for publication should be addressed "Editor of Wing and Courier."

MONDAY, JANUARY 7, 1895

Ex-Governor Gray, of Indiana, United States Minister to Mexico, who is now in Indianapolis, is being interviewed about Mexican earthquakes. His views on the subject of the great Indiana earthquake in November would be read with interest.

President Cleveland will have to devise some new method for his personal protection. The sentry box scheme has proved a dead failure. A few nights ago some one demonstrated their contempt for Fort Cleveland by entering the same and stealing the stove. The next time they will probably take the sentry himself.

Congressman Boutelle has accepted the invitation of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association of Baltimore to attend and speak at the banquet on the 21st of January. He has also been invited by unanimous vote to address the Lincoln Club, of Erie, Pennsylvania, at the anniversary banquet on January 14th which has a prior engagement to attend the Lincoln Dinner of the Middlesex Club, of Boston, on that date.

Persons who are impressed with the idea that Senator Hill has died at the White House there is to be peace between the two Democrats recently most distinguished by their hostility to President. Dining with the President he formal function refusing to dine with the President is a rude declaration of hostility. When Hill has been so vividly rebuked he has been actually or conventionally absent. This time he was manifestly at home. During the White House means not the same as the endorsement of the Administration in the Senate's platform. It is only another way of saying I am a Democrat.

The Democrats will hold a caucus this afternoon and endeavor to come to some sort of an agreement on the currency question. It is intimated that the President may send in a special message or another letter in the hope of stirring up party. The prospect however is that nothing on some definite policy is very promising. There is a feeling in Congress as well as elsewhere that Cleveland is "weak with a will to be" behind him and it remains to be seen whether he can once more whip an adverse majority in his own party into line. Should his currency scheme go through the House under pressure there is little chance for it in the Senate.

The New York World reads the plot out to the numbers of its party in the following vigorous fashion:

There is a nominal minority of Democrats in both houses of Congress. Is there such a thing as a Democratic party in Congress?

There is a President in the White House, and a Democratic party is not the Chief magistrate of the nation; only he is the official head and leader of his party. Can the leader lead?

If there is a Democratic party in control of Congress it is high time that it got along and fulfilled its pledges and expectations. The people of the country are ready. The Democratic Administration, the fact cannot too soon be made apparent.

As the World contributed its support toward placing these incompetents in power, it will have to stand the racket until the representatives already elected without its support and those to follow in 1896 are able to straighten out the muddle for which it must assume its share of responsibility.

The contest over the Michigan Senateanship has been settled by the nomination of Congressman Burrows. There were several candidates before the Republican legislative caucus. Mr. Burrows voted on the first ballot and was nominated on the second. His promotion to that body secures for the Senate the services of a man exceptionally well qualified for the discharge of his duties by reason of a long and honorable experience in the popular branch. Mr. Burrows has long been regarded as one of the Republican leaders in the House, and this promotion is a well deserved honor. His removal from the House has satisfied speculation as to the next chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, a position he would doubtless have held in the next Congress. Two names are already being urged for the place. Congressman Payne of New York and Congressman Dulles, of Lyonsport. On the present committee Mr. Payne stands next to Mr. Burrows and would therefore seem to have the best claim to the chairmanship of the new committee.

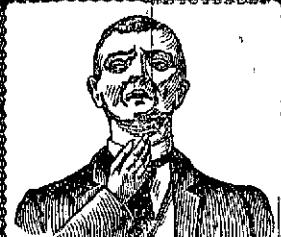

The half way point of the account and last administration of Grover Cleveland has been reached, says the Brooklyn Standard-Union, and there is no improvement in the public confidence touching the ability of the Administration. Mr. Cleveland's first stroke of statesmanship was when he discovered there was so much money in the Treasury that the state of the country was alarming. Well, there is no alarm of that nature just now. Democratic wisdom has at work. A Democratic Congress, along with a Democratic President, has been engaged in sectional and class legislation, destroying protection for the sake of making a deficit in the revenue, to be supplied from an income tax, and as we do not produce ten per cent of our sugar that article is taken from the free list, where the McKinley law placed it. The Democratic financiers and reformers have been disengaged in everything except the production of a deficiency in the treasury instead of a surplus. Their wool schedule has gone into effect, and away goes another great industry, and at the same time many millions that the policy of protection turned into the treasury. It was not enough to have the country torn by tariff-making uncertainties. The moment they were over, and business began to breathe freely and stretch its limbs, stiffened by a long period of inaction, Carlisle-Cleveland currency reform, equally disastrous, set in, and is now ruling. The President is a brave man, though! He will issue another $60,000,000 in bonds just as soon as the Texas steer Congress is dispersed.

The Income Tax.

A Washington despatch to the Philadelphia Press under date of the 2nd, says: Senator Quay gave very emphatic notice to the Senate this morning that opposition to the income tax provisions of the new tariff law has not subsided. He introduced an amendment to the urgent deficiency bill which cuts off all appropriation for putting the income tax into operation and substitutes for the item a new wool schedule.

The school schedule is that introduced by Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, last August and offered as an amendment to the free sugar bill. It classifies the various kinds of wool and provides for a duty ranging from four to thirty cents per pound.

When Senator Quay was asked what his

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

Members Assemble for Business Again this Afternoon.

Excellent Selections Made in Forming the Committees.

Proposed Change of Power of Enforcing Prohibitory Law.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 6.—To-morrow afternoon the members of the Maine Legislature will again assemble. It may be of considerable gratification to President Seward and Speaker Powers that they have established a precedent, never before set up by the presiding officers of the two branches, of announcing the standing and special committees the first week of the session. Such a thing may have been done in the dim and distant past but not in late years. Heretofore the appointment of the committees has been delayed by presiding officers until the second week of the session and sometimes has been delayed even longer than that two distinguished gentlemen who have been unanimously and enthusiastically selected to preside over the deliberations of the two Houses have advanced legislation by their prompt action and should be congratulated by the people of the State therefor.

The Selection of the joint standing committee has fallen upon Messrs. Sedgwick and Powers a great deal of hard labor. But they have accomplished their work in a most satisfactory manner.

The selection of Hamblin L. Hamlin, of Ellsworth, for chairman of the judiciary on the part of the House is one that cannot be too strongly commended. He is the son of the late Hamblin Hamlin, of Bangor, who was the pride of Maine Republicans and the admired of everybody with whom he came in contact.

The selection of C. W. Collier, of Bangor, for chairman of the committee on financial Affairs is wise and judicious. His record in the Legislature two years ago was an admirable one and his career as a successful business man in the Queen City of the East makes him eminently qualified for the important and responsible work which Speaker Powers has selected for him to perform.

Capt. H. N. Fairbanks, of Bangor, who has been made chairman of the House Committee on Merchantile Affairs and Insurance is another wise selection for there is no man in Maine who better understands the insurance business in every form and phase than the gentleman from Bangor. Capt. Fairbanks was a fine record in the Legislature two years ago and he will lose none of it by his course in the present session.

Those interested in the preservation and protection of fish and game will find strong friends on the committee in the persons of Senators Engel, of Presque Isle, Penney, of Laramie and Ames, of Washington on the part of the Senate, and Packard of Blanchard, on the part of the House. These gentlemen know the wants of those interested in hunting and fishing and will take great pains to satisfy their desires. The other members of the committee on the part of the House are not so well known but they came from sections of the State where game and fish abound.

The Joint Committee on Railroads, Telegraphs and Expresses is one of the strongest committees ever appointed by the Legislature of Maine. It consists of Hill of Kennebec, who is one of the soundest financial managers in the State, Washburn of Cumberland and Engle, of Penobscot, who is the part of the Senate. This trio cannot be excelled by any three members of the upper branch. They are supplemented by Dr. Maynard, of Bath, White, of Rockland, and McAllough, of Orono, together with Chas. H. Gilbert of Canton, who has been a member of the Maine Senate, Williams, H. Williams, of Augusta a novice in legislative experience, but strong in all the qualities that go to make up a successful legislator. William L. Littlefield of Belfast, who is known from Biddeford to Caribou as a successful travelling salesman, and whose judgment is of the best, and William H. Wildes, of Skowhegan, son of the late Col. A. W. Wildes, who was railroad commissioner in that State for many years.

In another week the wheels of legislation will be smoothly running and bills without number will be thrown into the hopper.

It is said that one matter of considerable importance is to come before the lawmakers, and when it is presented will cause quite a stir. It is the abolition of the powers of the sheriffs and deputies, both regular and special as far as the enforcement of the liquor law is concerned, that is, it is proposed to place the enforcement of the prohibitory law really in the hands of the constables of the towns and the police of the cities.

There are very few members in the city on Sunday, only those living in remote places remaining during the recess at the Augusta House and quietness prevails marked contrast to the excitement of the opening days of the session.

NO RIVER WATER WANTED
Bath Will Have Nequasset Water or None.

BATH, Jan. 6.—A special meeting of the committee on water and water works was held this afternoon and it was voted not to allow the introduction of the Androscoggin river water into the pipes. The new main from Nequasset is broken and water was pumped from the Androscoggin a short time this morning, but the company was notified to stop by the mayor as soon as he heard of it. The fire engines are in commission.

OPERATION FAILED.
Frank W. Patterson, of Belfast, died from Shock of Amputation.

BELFAST, Jan. 6.—Frank W. Patterson, of Belfast, died at Lewiston last night from amputation of the leg. He was a victim of the railroad disaster at Oakland several years ago. Both legs were broken, one never uniting. He never recovered from the injury, and was a constant sufferer since. Recently an operation was performed at the Central Maine General Hospital to re-rotate the bones, but he not being in suitable condition for the uniting, amputation was resorted to and he died from the shock. He was 57 years old. He was for many years assistant postmaster at Belfast.

Fire to-day partially destroyed the egg cooler establishment of Charles F. Lester.

Turkey's Side of the Story.

The Turkish legation has received the following official telegram from Constantinople concerning the treatment of Armenian Christians in Turkey.

The current bill was taken up in committee of the whole. The committee was first addressed by Mr. Bonner, of Louisiana, and the debate on the bill was maintained lately that a number of the Armenians in Turkey reaches many millions and that they are badly treated.

Both assertions are absolutely false.

The Armenian delegation to the American Legation in Constantinople has been delayed.

The letter with the disposition to treat the currency question as a party measure seemed to him likely to wreak upon the rocks of party expediency, a master of politics. He then proceeded to speak of the American people.

He added that the disposition to treat

the currency question as a party measure was that of the Armenian delegation to the American Legation.
